Handpainted style

Inspired by a "glamorous and expensive enamel jewellery line from Italy", Moi Moi Fine Jewellery has created a more affordable collection of enamel jewellery called Miabelle. Handcrafted in Thailand, the sterling silver collection of more than 200 rings, pendants, earrings and bangles is emblazoned with handpainted enamel and set with semi-precious stones including amethyst, citrine, garnet, onyx and peridot. "Never before have such strong, glossy and vibrant colours been available in fashion jewellery that is of this high quality and affordable price," says Miabelle co-founder Lauren Chang Sommer.

FLYING HEARTS

Winged hearts capture the spirit of Thomas Sabo's latest collection of sterling silver jewellery, House of Adventures, which celebrates "romance, innocence and a sense of nonsense". The winged heart pendants come in three styles – red synthetic garnet, purple synthetic zirconia and marcasite, and white synthetic zirconia. Matching white zirconia winged rings and earrings are also available.

DIY SPARKLE

Women can clean their own diamonds whenever and wherever they like with the new Diamond Dazzle Stik from Connoisseurs. Conveniently sized to fit into a purse or makeup kit, the Diamond Dazzle Stik uses "a premium twist-to-dispense click pen to deliver a specialised cleaning solution to a flow-through brush". The cleaning solution contains "micro-fine cleansers and polishing agents combined with a polymer which fills in fine scratches on the setting, dramatically increases the brilliance and sparkle of the diamond, and reduces the future build-up of dirt".
